Sen. McCarthy Is Termed 'Irresponsible'

Acheson Gets Full Truman Backing

PRESIDENT IS DUE TO NAME NEW AEC CHIEF

Visit Of Vinson, Clifford Is Called Entirely 'Social'

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
KEY WEST, Fla., March 20.—(AP)—President Truman backed up Secretary of State Acheson 100 per cent today and let it be known that any rumors he might be replaced are "completely without foundation."

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters that sum that the visit here of Chief Justice Vinson may have some connection with a change in the office of secretary of state.

Speaking for the President, Ross said: "Those rumors are completely without foundation. No change in the head of the state department is contemplated. All rumors to the contrary are complete fabrications. The President has complete confidence in the secretary of state and believes he is running the department admirably."

Meanwhile, high White House sources disclosed that Truman is seriously considering allowing "limited access" to loyalty files of persons accused by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) before a senate foreign relations subcommittee. Such access, if granted, and it seems likely—would be limited to inspection, by members of the committee, and at the White House, against persons specifically accused. It would be confined to inspections covering specific charges.

The sources asked not to be quoted by name, said that the President had a 15-minute long discussion with Vice President Barkley and Speaker Rayburn on a three-way telephone hookup, canvassing the legislative situation. NLRB Election Is Ordered For Big DuPont Plant

HOUSTON, March 21.—(AP)—A collective bargaining election will be held at the E. I. duPont de Nemours & Company chemical plant at Orange March 29-30.

Clifford Potter, head of the Houston sub-regional office of the National Labor Relations Board, said today that about 1,200 employees will be eligible to vote.

Potter said maintenance and production employees will vote on separate "yes or no" ballots, with only one petitioning labor group seeking to represent each group.

Maintenance employees will decide whether they want to be represented by the Orange Metal Trades Council and the International Association of Machinists. Production workers will vote on a petition by the Oil Workers International Union.

Potter said changing shifts at the plant necessitate the election to run two days, the polls to open on the afternoon of March 29 and again on the morning and afternoon of March 30.

Long-Smouldering Hatred Leads Girl To Slay Her Twin Sister With Rifle

FRESNO, Cal., March 20.—(AP)—A 14-year-old girl, yielding to long smouldering hatred, calmly killed her sleeping twin sister Sunday.

Then said Dan B. Eymann, assistant district attorney, Alice Richard "almost defiantly" told him: "I hated her. I don't feel bad because my sister is dead, but I feel bad for my folks. This'll hurt them. I'd kill Sally again if I had the chance."

Sally Richard was killed by a single .22 rifle slug into her brain as she lay sleeping about 3 p. m. She was one of eight sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar W. Richard. None of the family heard the shot.

Eymann said a murder charge would be filed against Alice today. The killing was an apparent case of what psychologists call sibling rivalry—rivalry between offspring of the same parents—said Sheriff J. W. Rippey. The twins were not identical.

Eymann quoted Alice: "I hated her for a long time and had it in the back of my mind to do it."

"I hated her because she was stupid and loud and always acting like a nut. I learned to hate her when we were in the sixth grade and ever since then this has built up."

A quarrel Saturday evening over use of a telephone brought her antagonism to a boil.

But a brother, Edgar, 16, held Sally so Alice could use the phone, age.

Gubitchev Sails For Russia And Kremlin's Anger

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP)—Valentin A. Gubitchev today started back for Russia and whatever fate the Kremlin may decree for a Soviet official who got caught spying.

The stubby Russian engineer-diplomat sailed at 12:12 p. m. (EST) aboard the Gdynia-America liner, Batory, less than two hours after his 15-year prison sentence was suspended on condition he leave these shores "never to return."

A big contingent of federal and city policemen, along with justice department officials and Russian diplomats, put Gubitchev—in handcuffs—on the ship. A force of policemen stayed aboard until the Batory left New York harbor, making sure the Russian didn't get off.

The poker-faced Gubitchev broke into a smile just before he left the federal courthouse under heavy guard. He said he wished "good luck" to Judith Coplon, the ex-government girl convicted with him of plotting to spy for the Russians.

Mrs. Coplon was sentenced to a straight 15-year term. She is free in $40,000 bail while her appeal is being heard.

Heard in Gubitchev and his attractive wife occupy a first class cabin, is the ship on which Communist underground leader, Gerhart Eisler, fled this country last year.

2 U. S. Destroyers Leave Indochina Following Riots

SAIGON, Vietnam, March 20.—(AP)—Two U. S. destroyers—the target of Communist riots that killed three persons and wounded at least 30 others—left on schedule today.

Sunday 3,000 students and 1,000 workers, waving the flag, started a riot against the French. Ho Chi Minh's rebels, began a march toward the harbor to protest North American backing of the French government.

Rioting flared for four hours and before French police dispersed the shouting mob it had burned part of the clock-square central market, set the torch to 15 buses and trucks, and ripped down French and American banners raised in honor of the destroyers' visit.

The destroyers Stickle and Anderson had been sent here as a gesture of support for the French-sponsored government of former Emperor Bao Dai.

"Down with American aid," "Down with Bao Dai," and "Long live Ho Chi Minh" were heard from the rioters.

The destroyers refused to publish in Saigon because Vietnam authorities had issued an order that they print only official statements on the rioting. The authorities hit back by suspending the newspapers for two weeks.

OLD CANNON FOUND

HONG KONG, March 20.—(AP)—An ancient cannon bearing the name of Britain's Queen Victoria has been unearthed by building excavators a short distance from long abandoned Hong Kong Fort.

Alice screamed, "I'm going to kill you and I'm going to do it with a gun."

Another brother, Robert 13, hid the father's unloaded rifle under his bed. But he later put it back in a closet.

Sally had a baby-sitting job at a neighbor's. Alice joined her at 11 p. m.

The girls got home about 2 a. m. Sally lay down and Alice lay awake brooding. She arose, went through the darkened house, groped until she found the rifle and cartridges—and shot Sally.

Then she telephoned the sheriff. "Come to 4721 Harvey Avenue, there's been a murder."

That awakened her mother, who grabbed the phone and said, "Don't be too hasty. She's having a nightmare."

Alice led her mother to Sally's body. The horrified mother called officers right back. "It's true."

Rippey, stating this was only his opinion, said: "Sally was a boisterous, jolly-go-lucky kind of a girl. Alice is a more older-like acting girl, talks very bright but moody. The deceased got more attention than the defendant."

The family denied "one twin had been favored over the other." Eymann said they told him the girls had "disagreements but no more so than most sisters their age."

U. S. APPEALS KEECH RULING IN UMW CASE

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—The government today asked the circuit court of appeals to overrule Judge Richmond B. Keach and punish John L. Lewis miners for contempt of court in the recent coal strike.

It contended that union officers "with tongue in cheek" gave only "sham" obedience to a court order to call off the walkout.

The justice department added that if Judge Keach's decision clearing the United Mine Workers is allowed to stand, federal courts will be "impotent" to deal with strikes in critical emergencies.

The argument was advanced in a brief submitted to the higher court. Arguments will be heard on April 26.

"A plainer case of sham and pretense could hardly be presented," the government lawyers said of Lewis' back-to-work order to his miners following Judge Keach's restraining order, February 11.

"Whereas the terms of the (Keach) order called for urgent, even drastic, action of the part of the union officers, they nevertheless contended themselves with a bookish, ineffective, note-writing compliance while at the same time boldly utilizing to union advantage the disobedience of its members," the government brief asserted.

"In finding the union not guilty of contempt, the circuit court reached a result wholly unsupported by the evidence and committed error which should be corrected by this court," the justice attorneys said.

Judge Keach ruled there was insufficient evidence that Lewis and other UMW officers had any responsibility for the refusal of the 370,000 striking soft coal miners to go back to work after the judge issued the injunction.

Farm Products Proposed In Lieu Of Cash For ECA

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—The House foreign affairs committee today voted to cut a billion dollars cash from 1951 European Recovery spending and substitute an equivalent amount of surplus farm commodities.

The committee overrode administration objections in accepting an amendment by Rep. Vorys (D-Ohio) at a closed-door committee session.

The vote, not disclosed, was said by Chairman Kee (D-W.Va.) to have cut across party lines.

Vorys' amendment slashes the 1951 cash spending authority of the Economic Co-operation Administration to $1,950,000,000 a flat $1,000,000,000 less than provided in the administration bill.

In lieu of the money, the Committee Credit Corporation would make available surplus agricultural commodities having a value of $1,000,000,000 based on open market prices.

How much of each surplus commodity would go to each participating nation would be determined by actual requirements.

The amendment, opposed by ECA, represents the first major change in the 1951 foreign spending bill now being worked out by the foreign affairs committee for submission to the House.

Chairman Kee told reporters that in his opinion the change would have a crippling effect both on administration of the ECA and on the administration's farm support program.

PRICE SUPPORT BILL IS FACING SENATE FIGHT

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—A farm price support bill that would loosen controls on peanuts and cotton but tighten them for potatoes faced an admittedly stiff fight in the Senate today.

"If Republicans vote as a unit and are helped out by some of the boys on our side, it may be defeated," Democratic Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma told a reporter.

Thomas, chairman of the senate agriculture committee, is leading the floor debate for adoption of a compromise farm measure that the House passed last week.

Although most of the talk has been about multi-million dollar losses on surplus potatoes, Sen. Aikin (R-Vt.) said opponents would stress the prospective $125,000,000 extra cost to taxpayers for surplus peanuts and cotton that are not needed or wanted.

Thomas readily agreed that most of the pressure for the compromise comes from the South. Acres of cotton and peanuts eligible for price supports were cut back sharply this year in an effort to reduce surplus stocks the government must buy. The pending bill would soften some inequalities under the cut-back formula.

Democratic Leader Lucas, of Illinois, brought the potato surplus headache into the cotton-peanut measure when it reached the Senate but failed to win a "no crop control" price supports provision for this year's crop.

Retained in the compromise is such a provision for next and future years. The bill also provides for the secretary of agriculture to reduce the number of this year's potatoes that could qualify for supports.

The justice department added that if Judge Keach's decision clearing the United Mine Workers is allowed to stand, federal courts will be "impotent" to deal with strikes in critical emergencies.

The argument was advanced in a brief submitted to the higher court. Arguments will be heard on April 26.

Papers in Beauseau's possession indicated he was attached to the army air force's first motion picture unit at Culver City, Calif., during the war.

The sheriff identified the pair in custody as Eber, Gene Riddell, 19, and Charles Ray Opie, 16. Boies said Riddell admitted orally that he fired the shot during a scuffle in the car while attempting to rob Beauseau. As yet, no charges have been filed.

Boies said the youths told him Beauseau gave them a ride at Globe, 75 miles east of here.

CHINESE COMMUNISTS BLOCK MASS EVACUATION BY REFUSAL TO PERMIT USE OF TWO LST'S

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—The State Department said today the Chinese Communists have blocked a mass evacuation of Americans and other foreigners from China by a last minute refusal to let two landing craft into Shanghai.

American officials on the scene have been instructed to press for reconsideration, an announcement said.

The landing craft—which were to ferry the foreigners from Shanghai to the American Presidential Liner General Gordon—have been ordered to remain at sea. The Gordon was instructed to stay at Hong Kong.

Nearly 2,000 foreigners, including 310 Americans had planned to leave Shanghai tonight in the first such general evacuation since last fall.

The United States ordered all remaining American diplomats and consuls out of the country two months ago after the Communist authorities at Peking seized American consular property there.

Apparently the Communist authorities at Shanghai had "unwarranted apprehensions" that the landing craft were not commercial vessels, the State Department said.

It said they were strictly commercial craft, turned over to the American President Lines. The two vessels at Shanghai had been widely used during World War II in assaults on hostile beaches.

The LSTs were to be used to ferry the foreigners to the liner because the north channel of the Yangtze river has been reported mined by the Chinese Nationalists as part of a Nationalist blockade against much of the Communist-held mainland.

The last minute refusal to let the evacuation proceed apparently took the State Department by surprise, although a number of American businessmen at Shanghai have been denied exit permits.

Poland Demands U. S. Reduce Staff

WARSAW, Poland, March 20.—(AP)—Poland's Communist-led government has told the U. S. embassy here to cut its military attaché's staff in half.

Under the demand, which was forwarded to Washington for reply, 10 officers and men of the attaché's staff, navy and air attachés would be withdrawn.

U. S. Ambassador Waldemar D. Gailman declined to comment. The request apparently follows a trend established in other Eastern European countries to curb the diplomatic and military staffs of Western embassies.

TWO TEEN-AGE WACO YOUTHS HELD FOR SLAYING MOTORIST WHO GAVE THEM RIDE IN CAR

MESA, Ariz., March 20.—(AP)—Two teen-age hitch-hikers from Waco, Texas, admitted today they shot a motorist to death on the highway last night, Sheriff L. C. Boies said.

The youths were arrested in a motor court near here. They had a pistol.

The dying victim tumbled out of his car at another motor court. He was here last night and gasped that he had been shot by one of two hitch-hikers.

The motorist was identified by the sheriff's office as Gustave A. Beauseau, 36, a traveling photographer who was living in Los Angeles. He died while being taken to a hospital.

Sheriff Boies said a button clutched in Beauseau's hand was from the shirt of one of the boys in custody.

Shot through the chest, Beauseau careened his car from the highway into the driveway of the motel.

"A first," said Marshall church, motel operator, "I thought the man was drunk. When I got near the car the man opened the door and fell to the ground after telling me he had been shot."

XC-99 Damaged By Explosion At Kelly Air Base

SAN ANTONIO, March 20.—(AP)—An explosion ripped out a wing fuel cell of the XC-99, world's largest military land airplane, and injured eight workers at Kelly Air Force base today.

Precautions taken against fire hazards held damage to a minimum. Firemen threw carbon dioxide and foamite into the wing section.

S. J. R. Hendricks, one of the workers, was treated at the Lackland AFB hospital for burns about the face. A Limon, inside the wing, suffered from shock.

Others suffered minor injuries when they jumped 20 feet from the wing surface and work stands to the ground.

An investigation to determine cause of explosion was started. The fuel cell, which exploded, was a 4,000 gallon fuel cell to clear it of gasoline fumes, Kelly officials reported.

There were 41 technicians aboard the XC-99, only plane of its kind in the Air Force, when the explosion ripped out the fuel cell and tore loose the inboard bulkhead.

The huge transport, with a 230-foot wingspan, was scheduled for April 15 delivery after extensive modification and overhaul at Kelly. Only two or three weeks of work remained before the project would have been completed and the six-engine plane be made ready for test flights.

HOUSE GROUP DELAYS VOTE ON MONEY BILL

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—The house appropriations committee today tentatively approved all but one of the omnibus money bill except the section dealing with defense funds.

It deferred action on that, and on the bill as a whole, until Tuesday.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) told newsmen "no changes" were made in funds recommended last week by a central committee for other agencies than the defense department. However, the final figures will not be made public by the committee until action is taken on the defense items.

While the committee worked on the huge money measure, strong bipartisan support for it in the house behind a politically appealing plan to lop another billion off federal spending next year.

Its strong appeal to the lawmakers is that it would be aimed at "non-essential" spending, with the house appropriations committee having the job of saying what fits in that category.

Appropriations committee members disclosed the plan as the committee started consideration today of an omnibus $25,000,000,000 bill financing more than 40 federal agencies for the (1951) fiscal year starting next July 1.

The committee hopes to have the bill in shape to send to the house floor early this week. It is slated for house debate next week, but won't be voted on until after the Easter recess.

Committee members said the omnibus already has tentatively cost more than $100,000,000 from the money requests in President Truman's $42.4 billion budget.

GAMBLING VOTE DUE

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 20.—(AP)—The initiative measure to legalize gambling in California officially was qualified today for the ballot in the November election.

One of the investigators, who in their report that most of the charges were found to be unfounded and they reported that steps have been taken over the past two years to rid the prison of inmates who have shown themselves to be incompetent.

A check with the Huntsville sewer and water department, the investigators said, showed no such report of clog in the sewer was ever made to the prison management and that no such clog was found in the sewer.

One of the investigators, who three years ago made a similar investigation, reported that morale is better among inmates now than it was at that time and added that "only a small amount of narcotics" are now reaching the inmates of the system.

"The writers have every reason to believe that the officials of the prison system are sincerely endeavoring to do a real job under considerable difficulties," the investigators wrote.

Ellis said that while a large number of guards have been fired for suspicion of helping inmates set dope, whiskey and other disciplinary moves, most of the guards and other personnel in the system are of a high type.

JESSUP DENIES CHARGES HE IS TIED TO REDS

Attorney General Protesting Use Of FBI Secret Files

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—Ambassador Philip C. Jessup declared today that Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.), by accusing him of "Communist affinity," showed a "shocking disregard for the interests of our country."

With a sweeping denial of any Communist sympathies, Jessup told a Senate investigating subcommittee that it is a matter of "utmost gravity" when an American envoy is "held up before the eyes of the rest of the world as a liar and a traitor."

The ambassador-at-large lashed back at McCarthy after speeding home from a survey mission to the Far East. He said that during his absence, the integrity of the ambassador only by two sources—McCarthy and the Moscow official newspaper Izvestia.

Jessup added: "Anyone who believes in the concept of guilt by association might draw some startling conclusions from this fact. However, I do not believe in the concept of guilt by association."

"Moreover, I do believe that anyone who, without adequate proof, levels a charge of conscious or ignorant support of Communism at a member of the United States senate—or at least at any official of the United States government—is irresponsible."

"I have no evidence that Senator McCarthy was motivated by desire to assist the International Communist Movement even though his words and actions have had that effect."

As to the charges against him, Jessup said: "I wish to repeat categorically and without qualification that I am not a Communist and never have been."

"I am not and have never been a Communist sympathizer. I have never knowingly supported or promoted any movement or organization, I know and as its objective the furtherance of Communist objectives."

McCarthy accused Jessup of an "unusual affinity for Communist propaganda" 10 days ago when the Senate foreign relations subcommittee began hearings on the Wisconsin

DUST IN THE BOWL

Reports of dust clouds again darkening the sun in the Dust Bowl are enough to send cold chills down the spine. No one who experienced the dust storms of the middle thirties will ever forget them. Are we about to undergo a repetition of that ravaging phenomenon?

The dust storms of early March apparently were a freakish result of unusual weather conditions. The same high winds occurring a month or so later, when vegetation had begun to stir with spring life, might have picked up no more dust than any common wind. But this comforting supposition is not enough to wipe from the mind's eye the ghastly color of the noonday sun in those other years; the powdery, gritty dust in the eyes and throat, lying on the window sills, inside the shoes, even in the food; the wasted land, deserted farmsteads, forgotten tools buried in the drifted dust. Those things are not easily forgotten, and it is better so. The memories, aided by the shock of new dust in the sky, lead us to ask whether we have yet done an adequate job of tying down our precious soil.

Those few inches lying on the surface of the ground are the only topsoil we have; no one knows how to make more in a hurry. And no one knows how we can live without it. Perhaps we should get on a little faster with measures to prevent it from washing down to the sea, or billowing up into the sky. Let's take a look around, asking whether the soil is protected as well as it could be.

BRITISH FARMS

An American newspaper man reporting on farm conditions in England drew comparison between land use and farm practices there and in the American Midwest, and then declared that if farmers all over the United States were doing as well as British farmers are today, in production per acre, we could easily support one hundred million more people. For that matter American farms could easily support a considerably larger population with present farming practices, if all the food which went to market were used for food.

Observers say, nevertheless, that Britain must do still better in food production. In order to make more money available for the importation of raw materials for British industries, the imports of food must be further reduced.

That British farmers will attain new production goals is likely. The results of the February elections can be interpreted as a hint that they would like to do so unencumbered by close government supervision, red tape and subsidization.

UNEMPLOYMENT FIGURES

Some concern is being expressed over the number of unemployed persons in the nation. The figure has risen consistently over the past year or so, and in February it was beginning to approach a level which could be compared with that of 1941, although still nearly a million less than the peak of that year. On the other hand the argument has been heard that the number of unemployed is less significant than the total of employed, which remains higher than at any time except in the peak years of 1947 and 1948. There is much to be said for this argument, although it is not conclusive.

Unemployment represents a strain on the economy, and the strain is proportional to the number of jobless. The SIGN OF SPRING.

King Winter in the lap of spring I know may still be lingering

And many bitter winds may blow before we may decide to go

But one certain sign have seen That soon the fairways will be green.

We still may have to shovel snow before the tulips start to grow.

It's much too soon, though skies are fair.

To change to lighter underwear, But still I think it safe to say

That spring draws nearer every day.

The robins I no longer trust. There's northward come because

They must.

And as the mercury downward goes

The robins shiver when in snows.

More swallows I must see than one Before I'm sure that winter's gone.

But still the surest proof have I That spring is here or just close by.

I've tested it from year to year. There is no doubt that spring is near.

When smiling once again I see The golfing parson on the tee.

unemployed and their families must be supported, and no matter from what source their support comes it is non-productive. An increase in the number of unemployed is not necessarily an omen of impending doom, but it is a warning that less goods and services are being produced, and that the available supplies are being tapped to support a rising number of persons who do not contribute to production.

The ability to shape the economic situation, as an alternative to simple acceptance of the economic cycles as they occur, has long been sought. In large measure it depends on our reaction to such warning signs as a rise in unemployment. A reaction which will curtail trade will obviously produce more unemployment. Steps to expand employment in the production of useful, marketable goods might successfully mold the economic trend.

WHERE SLAVERY PREVAILS

It is charged that the Soviet system rests on slave labor, worse than any known to history. New projects, such as dams and factories, are planned on the assumption that millions of involuntary workers will be available to build them. Nor need the planners give much attention to food, housing and clothing for these hapless drudges, as even the most inhumane slave-drivers used to do in the past, for their own interest. Now the Russians do not bother if their victims die. "There will be plenty more."

All this was told to the United Nations by Miss Toni Sander, representing the American Federation of Labor. The Russian representatives were not there, but their reply may be anticipated. They once said that only criminals were in the forced labor camps. Unfortunately for this explanation, it has been put on record whom the Russians consider as criminals. They include former officials, owners of businesses, relatives of persons who have escaped abroad, small farmers, and anti-Communists.

And this all-embracing system of slavery is what the Communists seek to install elsewhere, under the pretense of helping the working class.

SO FAR SO GOOD

For the first time in the history of the United States in times of peace the nation has an open enemy which all but says that it seeks our destruction. If it is any comfort, this state of affairs has now gone on for four years without anything calamitous occurring.

This consolation of course, may be no more valid than that of the man who fell out of the twentieth story of a skyscraper. "All right so far," he called as he passed the fifth floor.

One of the problems facing the young fellow at the Saturday matinee movie is remembering where the picture was when they came in after seeing it through several times.

"This animal is very bad. When attacked, it defends itself." This is a popular old French saying, whose irony is applicable to many happenings today.

Former Teacher Here Is Honored By Honor Society

Dr. Ernest Anderson of Tucson, Ariz., former teacher of chemistry in Corsicana High School, was recently honored by being made an honorary member of Phi Lambda Upsilon, national honorary chemistry society.

Dr. Anderson, whose wife is the former Miss Lillian Hilliard of this city, is head of the chemistry department at the University of Arizona, and has achieved national recognition for his work in the field of carbohydrates.

At a recent dinner meeting of the society, Dr. T. F. Buehner, national president, presented a certificate and key to Dr. Anderson on behalf of the society.

The award gave recognition to Dr. Anderson as a teacher, administrator and research worker. He has been a member of the faculty of the University of Arizona since 1929.

After receiving his B. S. and M. S. degree from the University of Texas, he won his doctorate at the University of Chicago in 1909.

Thereafter he taught at the University of Massachusetts, University of Praetoria in South Africa, University of Nebraska, and at the University of Arizona.

He has been connected in a research capacity with the Carnegie Institute, Washington, D. C., the University of Wisconsin and the University of California.

Best known as a worker in chemical research, he has published about 40 scientific works.

His primary interest has been in the field of carbohydrates, gums, mucilages, hemicelluloses and other constituents of wood, plant gums and seeds of legumes.

Active Worker

A man of science for 40 years, he has been active in the establishment of chapters of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi, both honorary fraternities on the U. of A. campus.

During his 27 years at the U. of A., the college has built up its chemistry department from a five-member staff to a faculty of eleven, plus about thirty assistants.

His name was suggested to the national group for the honor by the U. of A. undergraduates chapter of the society. It took the majority of the group's chapters to win him the award, according to William McCaughey, president of the Arizona chapter.

Unauthorized Collections Are Reported

Several youths representing themselves as members of the American Heart Association drive have been soliciting funds at Corsicana homes recently, Marc Cloud, chairman of the drive here, warned local citizens Monday.

Cloud, who headed the 1950 Heart drive during the month of February, said that the drive has been over for three weeks, and that no house-to-house solicitations were made. All funds are collected through money put in the plastic drive hearts in the business houses, he said.

Police officers and the Chamber of Commerce have been notified Cloud said.

secretary of state, Ross declared Vinson's visit here, with Clark M. Clifford, former special counsel to the President, "is completely so-called."

The President, it was learned, is about ready to announce the appointment of a new chairman of the atomic energy commission.

The appointment may follow the arrival here of Donald Dawson, administrative assistant. Truman's contact man of appointments with the Democratic National committee, congress and the departments.

Dawson likely will fly into Key West during the day to confer with Truman at the "Winter White House" and join the Presidential vacation party.

The AEC chairmanship has been vacant since the resignation of Paul E. Lillie, and Sumner Pike has been carrying on as acting chairman.

Some members of the President's party said there was evidence also that Truman may fill, before his Texas vacation, the long-vacant chairmanship of the National Security Resources board.

The chairmanship of the council of economic advisors will go to Acting Chairman Leo Rostenberg as soon as the President finds a successor to Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, former chairman, as a member of the council.

The open house starts Tuesday and runs through Thursday. Visiting hours are from 2 to 6 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Conducted tours of the building will be offered. The tour will include an opportunity to record and hear your voice on a tape recorder, and an oscilloscope will show how sound waves travel and the visitor will be taken through the mechanical end where telephone conversations begin and end.

switchboards and the test board. The test board is where complaints are registered and from where corrections are made.

A cable splicing display will be offered and teletype machines will be in operation.

A display of equipment used in telephones shows how savings have been made by the use of new materials. A cutaway sketch shows how the phones operate and the visitor will see the switchboards and operators at work.

The tour includes a stop at the information desk and an explanation of a chart which shows when telephone calls are made in Corsicana.

The tour concludes at an exhibit where the model of Bell's first phone is explained and where the visitor has a chance to see many of the improvements included in present-day telephone systems.

senator's contention that the state department is a tool through which Communists and their sympathizers.

McCarthy also said that Jessup once sponsored a subversive organization.

Jessup said it was true his name appeared on the list of the sponsors of a dinner 'ven May 7, 1946 by the American-Russian Institute, but that he did not remember attending.

Jessup also said he also permitted his name to be used as a sponsor of an earlier dinner by the organization in New York Oct. 1945.

He argued there was no reason why a loyal American should not have sponsored these dinners under circumstances which then prevailed. He said the organization was a "loyal American" and that he had no recollection of the attorney general's list of subversive organizations until April 21, 1949.

Jessup's attack on McCarthy was the second made by a major state department figure. Deputy Undersecretary John E. Peurifoy lashed back at the senator with a counter attack last week.

McCarthy on his part has kept up a constant fire at the department and only Sunday called for the ouster of Secretary of State Acheson along with what he called "The whole gang of untouchables" in the department.

In doing that Jessup would be picking up where Under-Secretary of State John E. Peurifoy left off last week. Peurifoy called McCarthy a "liar" and "a scoundrel" and a "foreign service officer a shame and a disgrace. He also said the senator is damaging U. S. foreign relations.

In making his remarks about Acheson on a television program Sunday, McCarthy said Peurifoy is Acheson's mouthpiece and that Peurifoy would lose his job if he failed to criticize McCarthy's tactics.

McCarthy also said he is convinced "we still have most of the Hiss ring" in the department.

That was as ill as to Alger Hiss, former state department official who recently was convicted on a charge that he lied in denying that he gave secret U. S. documents to Russia.

In reply to a question, McCarthy said, "the top man in the espionage ring" and several other "extremely dangerous men" still are in the department.

At the committee's explosive inquiry moved ahead there were these other developments:

1. Attorney General McGrath was reported to have protested vigorously against any decision to open the FBI's files to the investigation group. McCarthy said that without those records the inquiry would be "utterly senseless."

2. Senator Tydings (D-Md.), the committee chairman, said he had been told that Peurifoy would not file today regarding procedure to be followed in making available state department records and other government files on those persons who have been accused by McCarthy.

3. Senator Hickenlooper (Ia.), a member of the committee, told a reporter he is ready to force a showdown on the files issue. He said uncertainty about obtaining them, and over whether FBI records would be included, has gone on long enough.

The civil service loyalty review board refused over the week end to answer questions by McCarthy about the handling of the case of Career Diplomat John S. Service, who has been warmly defended by the state department against McCarthy's contentions.

McCarthy said that Service is pro-Communist. Seth W. Richardson, chairman of the National Society for Crippled Children, said a presidential order bars a reply to McCarthy's queries.

Richardson announced he has started an investigation of his own to try to find out how McCarthy learned, in advance of public announcement, that the board had recommended recall of Service from India for a new check of his loyalty record. (Service has been summoned home for that purpose and so he can go before the committee to reply to his first steps forward with hope and confidence, is the essence of the work done by the local society as well as the others of the national federation, in offering medical, educational, rehabilitation, employment and recreational services to be handicapped, he said.

"The Easter Seal is 17 years old this year and has been responsible for raising millions of dollars to work with the crippled," Mr. Mitchell pointed out. There are 8,000,000 handicapped children under the age of 21 in the United States today, of which scores are here in our community. The funds we raise will be used here to aid them with direct services."

Hundreds Tell Bob Wills Of Hadacol's Numerous Blessings

Hundreds of folks, who are benefiting every day from taking HADACOL meet at the Trianon Building in Oklahoma City where Bob Wills, famous band leader, and his Texas Playboys broadcast each noon for HADACOL.

"It looks like all my fans are getting wonderful benefits from HADACOL," said Wills. "It is a real pleasure to broadcast for HADACOL because the folks taking HADACOL are so enthusiastic that I feel like I am performing a real service for mankind."

Hundreds have told Wills of the blessed benefits of HADACOL and the following statement by Miss Betty Lou Lobb, 720 College St., Bethany, a well known singer, is a good example.

"I was tired, run down and lost my appetite. I suffered with gastric disturbances. I had tried almost everything but it didn't seem to help me. I had heard about the wonderful results HADACOL had been bringing to so many of my friends. Soon after taking HADACOL I was feeling much better, had no gastric disturbances and had a wonderful appetite. I am no longer nervous. I am sure that HADACOL has helped me a great deal, and I recommend it to my friends."

Miss Lobb suffered with a deficiency of B Vitamins and important Minerals which HADACOL contains.

A lack of only a small amount of the B Vitamins and certain Minerals will cause digestive disturbances. Your food will not agree with you. . . . You will have an upset stomach. . . . You will suffer from heartburns, gas pains, and your food will sour on your stomach, and you will not be able to eat the things you like for fear of being in misery after eating. HADACOL supplies the blood stream so that it can go to work right away.

It is easy to understand, therefore, why countless thousands have already been benefited by this amazing tonic, HADACOL. So, it matters not who you are . . . it matters not where you live . . . or if you have tried all the medicines under the sun, give this wonderful preparation a trial. Don't go on suffering. Don't continue to lead a miserable life. Many persons who have suffered and waited for 10 to 20 years or even longer, are able now to live happy, comfortable lives again because HADACOL supplies the Vitamins and Minerals which their systems needed. Be fair to yourself. Give HADACOL a trial. Demand the genuine HADACOL. Accept no substitutes.

B Vitamins and Minerals which HADACOL contains. And if you suffer from such a disorder, there is no known cure except the administration of the Vitamins and the Minerals which your system lacks.

HADACOL contains not only one, but 5 of the B Vitamins. HADACOL contains not only one, but 4 of the necessary Minerals. It comes to you in liquid form, easily assimilated in the blood stream so that it can go to work right away.

Office Visits Vs. Home Calls

By W. P. BROWN
Of Johnson's Pharmacy

Treatment at a doctor's office is always more convenient for both patient and doctor. Here the doctor has everything he needs at his fingertips... medical aids he could never carry in his black bag. Then too, he can examine you more completely and more quickly than at home.

Don't wait until you are so ill you can't get out of bed. Serious illness is costly in both time and money. Play safe. Visit your doctor frequently, keep up treatments he recommends, take medicine as prescribed. Purchase his prescriptions from a druggist where professional work receives the first consideration.

DEFENDANT IS CALM AS JUDGE INVOKES CHAIR

Convicted Rapist Moved Immediately To Huntsville Cell

By CLYDE E. JOHNSON Daily Sun Staff

Calm and with no signs of fear, William R. Ray Friday was sentenced to die in the electric chair at Huntsville on April 20 for the brutal rape of a nine-year-old Fort Worth girl two years ago.

District Judge A. P. Mays, with a clear and distinct voice, pronounced the sentence of death as about 200 spectators looked on in silence.

"It is the order of the court," declared Judge Mays, "x x x before the hour of sunrise on the 20th day of April, A. D. 1950 at the state penitentiary at Huntsville that you be executed, to die by the passage through your body of a current of electricity of sufficient intensity to cause death x x x."

Within five minutes after the sentencing, Ray was on his way to the penitentiary, guarded by Sheriff David Castles and Deputy R. E. Jones.

The two officers returned Ray from Dallas, where he has been held pending outcome of appeals, at 9:30 a. m. Friday.

A score of persons, including Ray's grieving mother, Fred L. H. Ray of Vernon, awaited the conviction.

William R. Ray's death sentence was the first assessed here since 1928—some 22 years ago. At that time, negro, Fred L. H. Ray, was sentenced to death by the late Judge Scarborough for slaying a white boy at Rice.

demanded man's arrival. They filed in the jail, many sobbing as they greeted the condemned man.

"I'm not afraid to die," said Ray, just prior to the sentencing. "I'm still hoping for clemency."

The 34-year-old convicted rapist, whose baptism into the Church of Christ has brought sympathy from hundreds, stood relaxed and calm before the judge, his hands clasped behind his back.

Ray was dressed in freshly pressed brown slacks, a tan sport jacket and brown sports shirt. His bloodshot eyes shined brightly.

Other than the judge's deep voice, and the clicking of movie cameras, the packed district courtroom was without sound.

Ray's mother wept in silence.

The case was over as far as Defense Counsel H. S. Beard of Waco was concerned.

"I've done all I can do," said the attorney who single handedly has waged Ray's court fight for life.

"It's no use trying further; we've gone as far as we can."

Beard said "it was a successful operation, but the patient died."

The lawyers declared the case probably would have been reversed by the Court of Criminal Appeals had it not involved child rape.

He pointed out that one judge on the court had held the indictment was invalid because it failed to specify the victim was a "female."

It was on April 8, 1948 when the former army cook lured the 9-year-old girl into his automobile on a Fort Worth street, drove her to a secluded spot in a dark park and assaulted her. Exactly three months later, the girl was found with a death penalty facing him.

A Navarro district court jury convicted Ray on July 8, 1948 after only a few minutes deliberation.

The case was sent here on a change of venue from Tarrant county.

Ray had pleaded innocent, claiming he experienced a "black out" and remembered nothing apparently because of an intoxicated condition.

Among the state's prosecutors at the sentencing were Al Clyde, at the time prosecutor in Tarrant county; Charles T. Banister, county attorney here; and his assistant, Seton T. Holsey.

Pronouncement of sentence climaxed a long fight for reversal, a few trial and public sympathy for the condemned man.

At one time the defense was victorious, it seemed. The case was on appeal in Austin where the high court affirmed the lower court's verdict. But among the papers in the case, there was no judgment—an oversight on the part of Navarro district court attorney.

Defense Counsel Beard leaped at the chance for new litigation, but in the end—after appealing again to the Austin Court of Criminal Appeals—Ray merely achieved a several months' delay.

A so-called judgment nunc pro tunc (now for then) was entered by District Judge Mays; new appeals were taken, and the Austin court again affirmed the Navarro conviction. Their mandate was returned to district court here a week ago, March 10.

When efforts for a new trial seemed futile, the defense was launched to secure public pressure for commutation of the death penalty to life imprisonment—a fight that is expected to continue until

Kerens Raises Red Cross Quota In Current Drive

With the Kerens community reporting it had reached its quota in the American Red Cross fund campaign, the local chapter of the Navarro County Red Cross today said it had collected $7,304.22 of the $13,540 quota.

Howell Brister, drive chairman in Kerens reported Thursday his group had collected $300 and was still collecting. In 1949, Kerens turned in $657.67. Brister said he hopes to exceed that amount this year.

Mrs. Mary Simpson, executive secretary of the Red Cross, today issued a plea for residential gifts to contact the Red Cross office if they wished to contribute to the drive. She said persons could mail their money to the Corsicana Red Cross office or call the office and a collector would come to the home.

Ray is executed, or until clemency is granted.

Nine jurors signed statements favoring clemency, it was revealed recently, but four of these later revoked their action.

Since Ray was baptized, church leaders have taken an interest in the former Fort Worth soldier.

County Attorney Banister has reported receiving many letters—some of them unsigned—arguing that he recommend life imprisonment. Banister, however, has stood firm on the death penalty, which he and other prosecutors urged when the case was on trial here.

After the brief court action, Judge Mays directed District Clerk J. C. Gaston to issue a death warrant, ordering the warden to carry out the execution.

Nokes Addresses Junior College Class Friday

Students studying government at Navarro Junior College learned something Friday about the mechanics of law-making.

State Senator George O. Nokes, Jr., addressed the class, explaining how a bill becomes a law and other legislative procedures.

The Glimer-Alken measures, and the recently enacted rural telephone law, were among examples by Nokes.

As the senator spoke, the college journalism class "covered" the story as a news-writing assignment.

Mrs. Margaret Berry teaches the government class and Mrs. Joy Arnold is journalism instructor.

Telephone Co. To Hold Open House During This Week

By DON MORRISSEY Daily Sun Staff

Seventy-four years ago this month Alexander Graham Bell said, "Watson, come here, I need you."

The statement by itself means little, but the fact that Bell was developing the telephone and that Watson was in another room and heard Bell's voice over the wire which now embraces the world.

Indeed timely is the open-house celebration being planned by Corsicana office of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. The open house will be from Tuesday through Thursday. Visiting hours are 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m.

According to information received from Mrs. Elizabeth Harillee, a former employee of both telephone systems in Corsicana, W. K. Vance was granted the right to install telephone poles in the city in June, 1882.

The permission was granted by the city commission and service was to start about a month later, she recalled. A booklet prepared by the local phone company states the service had 71 subscribers in 1883.

The phone service started in 1882 was known as the Corsicana Mutual Telephone Co. The offices were above the present Harris and Jacobs clothing store at Fifth avenue and Beaton street.

A few years later another independent telephone company started. It is believed this service originated around 1890. One old-timer said it was known as the Gulf States telephone Co.

In 1896 the Corsicana Mutual moved its offices across the street to the northwest corner of Fifth and Beaton. Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. records show the Corsicana Mutual was purchased by the Southwestern Telephone and Telegraph Co. in 1897. The present name of the company was first used in 1921.

The system known as the Gulf States had offices on the top floor of a three-story building across from the Palace theater, which later burned. E. P. Phillips, manager of the Corsicana office, said the company's records show the Gulf States went out of business in 1916.

Southwestern T. and T. had 432 phones in Corsicana and Gulf States, it is recalled, had about the same number. Old-timers state many homes in those days had two telephones. One on each system.

Operators in those days underwent much confusion trying to locate a party. One old-timer operation for a party would be given for a party and after a diligent search it would be discovered the number was on the other system.

There is no record of the consolidation of the two telephone companies and one old-timer recalled that still another service was located for a short time in a building where Cabell's store now is located.

However, even though there is no record of a consolidation, Miss Harillee and W. H. Johnson, who exchanged views on the subject, believed there was a consolidation of the companies. They said they could recall working for both systems.

One explanation offered was that Southwestern T. and T. had taken over Corsicana Mutual but that the systems were operated independently.

When the service in the building which stood at Main and Collin streets, it was advanced that this was a rural service.

Employees of the telephone company included, among others, Miss Harillee, M. P. Caldwell and R. C. Sizemore. Johnson said he was a lineman and operator. Miss Harillee was a manager, and Sizemore a collector.

A. G. Elliott said he recalled when the phone company was moved Harris and Jacobs and that Jim T. Taylor was a well-known old-timer.

Many old-timers recall when they were called by the operator to go to a home or store to tell someone they were wanted on the phone at the telephone office.

There definitely were two systems in Corsicana in 1903, and a 1904 directory of the Southwestern Bell T. and T. shows about 500 subscribers.

Executive officers listed are J. E. Farnsworth, general manager; G. W. Foster, assistant; F. E. Beddoe, superintendent; and W. M. Milburn, collector.

The directory states toll stations were located at the Nolan Hotel, Hotel Main, the Bismarck and Hotel C. buildings.

Quoting a phrase from the directory: "Get a telephone of your own, and don't annoy your neighbors."

Changes in 1904 were, business, $3; two-party business, $2.50; residence, $2.00 and three-party residence, $1.70.

The directory also stated: "With our telephone in your home, you have connection with all the outside world. Our long distance service is prompt, efficient and reliable. Mail is collected, telegraph is quicker, telephone is cheapest."

The only advertisements in the 1904 directory were John C. Wood's grocery store, the Bismarck saloon, operated by H. T. Jackson; Coulton, "the wide-awake druggist," and Oil City Steam Laundry, owned by L. K. Harpold.

Many names in the 1904 directory can be found in the present day telephone listings. Many places still have the same number. The Daily Sun, for instance, had the number 163 in 1904, and has the same number today.

A note on the cover of the directory states: "Employees of this company not operating Morse telegraphic instruments, are strictly forbidden to receive from any one any written or oral message for transmission by telephone. Patrons must do their own talking."

The Corsicana branch has grown until more than 5,850 telephones now are installed in the city. In 1905, Corsicana's telephone system was changed from magneto (crank) to common battery operation. There were 432 telephones of the Southwestern T. and T. at that time. Since World War II, about 2,250 phones have been added in the city building was purchased and remodeled. The building has been adapted at various times to meet Corsicana's growing demand for telephone service.

Phillips said the company handles an average of 33,000 calls a day, not including calls made to the supervisor, for information, to the business office, to the repair service and on long distance. In all, about 42,000 calls are handled each day. The largest number of calls in Corsicana come between 9 and 10

DIES AT AGE OF 101—Mrs. G. A. (Grandma) Heaton, 101, died at her home at Edna, Texas, Thursday morning. Widow of the late L. L. Heaton, Mrs. Heaton was born in Alabama, Dec. 28, 1848. She resided in the Barry community for many years. She had been a member of the Baptist church since the age of 14 years. Five sons preceded her in death. Surviving are 18 grandchildren, 19 great-grandchildren and a number of great-great-grandchildren. The photo was taken as she was observing her 100th birthday.

a. m. and 6 and 7 p. m. About 3,900 calls are handled then.

Local calls have increased about 50 per cent since 1941, Phillips added.

Equipment added to the telephone service locally since the war includes six local switchboard positions, 10 long distance positions and equipment for 1,000 subscriber lines. Provisions have been made to take care of 600 more subscribers lines this year.

The network of outside lines and cables was expanded through Corsicana in 1949 at a cost of more than $130,000.

New long distance lines from Corsicana to Hearn, Wortham and Dallas have been added within the past three months and new circuits will be added to Tyler and Waco soon.

Recent information on the local company shows 110 telephone people work and live in Corsicana. Their annual payroll is $225,000.

Corsicana, Phillips said, is on the north-south highway route through Texas served by mobile radiotelephones. A transmitter is located at Currie.

Corsicana now is a repeater station on a 12-channel carrier from Dallas to Houston. Next year, when a new underground coaxial cable, free from weather hazards, is in service, a repeater station will be located three and one-half miles south of Corsicana, and another station will be four and one-half miles north. This cable will make Corsicana's telephone a part of a nationwide long distance dialing plan, Phillips added.

Many new and interesting displays will be shown visitors during the open house. Guests will be able to see the advances the telephone has made and a bit of what can be expected in the future.

Family Service Association Is Moving Office

The moving of the office equipment and of thousands of pairs of shoes and supplies of every description was expected to be completed early next week.
